Professional reference for Malk Williams

Malk has been working with me in a number of my productions, involving the extensive use of voice, accent and character. He is both easy and pleasant to work with, listens and interprets with an intelligent approach to the job in hand. He is extremely versatile in his vocal range using pitch and tone well to colour the character required.

His neutral voice has a soft tone, but with an air of authority, useful for imparting knowledgeable information, with a hint of accent from just above the midlands. He also has an extensive range of accents, including BBC Standard English and many European. I particularly enjoy his Welsh accent. He can also age his voice well.

Malk can adopt both the serious and the more light hearted tone, and can switch easily between both. It helps that he has a musical ear. He takes direction well and is generally a pleasure to work with.
